

Announcing 'Play Dates' for Adults. Free!
Every Saturday from 1 PM - 3 PM at Market Street Framers
59 Market St. in Onancock!

ESAL member Mary Clements will show and tell different artistic and crafty techniques on Saturday afternoons. March will be the kickoff with Gelli Printing.

This really cool technique uses gelatin plates to produce monoprints that can be used for primary art, backgrounds, journals, printing on different objects- and a bunch of other stuff! Acrylic paints are the primary media used, but there are other materials that give unusual and unexpected results.

Each Saturday in March will cover a different aspect of Gelli printing, from basic concepts to making your own plates.

Demonstrations are free, plus you get to play with the Gellis and paint. And of course, what would Play Dates be without milk and cookies! (Or wine and cheese if you truly can't let the kid in you come out!) Donations accepted for tasties, or if you really want to get into the printing process big-time.

Stay in Onancock after the program and go to a show, the theater or early supper.

For more information, call Mary at 302-1305, or stop by the shop at 59 Market Street.
